About Bonnie Balistreri

Bonnie works with male and female clients, from executives to students or any individual who simply needs personal style revitalization. Simply stated, she guides you with "Personal Positioning" by helping you better position yourself in the very competitive business world and within your personal environment.

She also guides Corporations with "Company Positioning" by providing image presentations that help companies better define and brand themselves in the marketplace. She accomplishes this by educating employees about image and professionalism to their clients in the workplace. Additionally, she has been successful with incorporating image seminars with company wellness programs.

Bonnie volunteers to educate the women soldiers at Fort Hood who are leaving the military and entering the civilian work force on how to dress professionally for job interviews as well on-the-job dress. She also serves as the Wellness Chairman on the American Lung Association Board for Austin, TX. More info at <http://bonniebalistreri.com>
